Of the approximately 4500 water systems that were initially projected to be impacted by Hurricane Harvey, approximately 3,607 systems were in the affected area (58 State Declared Counties). Of the systems in the affected areas, 2,175 are public water community water systems that serve a population of 10,878,982 and 596 are non-transient non-community (NTNC) water systems that serve hospitals, health care facilities, nursing homes and day cares, with a population of 216,871.

Kim,
In the update we used the language below. Are the numbers good numbers (see Steve's email below)?

In this morning's SitRep, you might want to confirm numbers under the Water/Wastewater paragraph...

Of the approximately 4500 water systems that were initially projected to be impacted by Hurricane Harvey, approximately 3,607 systems were in the affected area (58 State Declared Counties). Of the systems in the affected areas, 2,175 are public water systems that serve a population of 10,878,982 and 596 are non-transient non-community (NTNC) water systems that serve hospitals, health care facilities, nursing homes and day cares, with a population of 216,871.

$$2,175 + 596 = 2,771$$

$$3,607 - 2,771 = 836 \text{ seem to be missing off the } 3,607$$

Am I missing something.. ??
